Potters Renew Appeal For Tariff Aid

JUSTICE ASKED BY THOMPSON AT CLEVELAND

Manufacturers Open Fifty-first Convention.

IMPORT FLOOD

Protection Urged to Safeguard Living Standards.

CLEVELAND, O., Dec. 3.

Renewal of appeal for tariff protection for the ceramic industry against domestic market inroads by foreign manufacturers, who have the advantage of cheap labor, was made today by President Malcolm W. Thompson, of East Liverpool, at the opening of the fifty-first annual convention of the United States Potters' association in the Hollenden hotel.

Imports increase. Attributing the situation to the ever increasing flood of china and earthenware from foreign countries, Thompson pointed out that three semi-porcelain plants and one china shop suspended during the year. Exports have increased 8.5 per cent during the first nine months of the year compared with the same period in 1928, he said.

Declaring that hope for tariff relief at the regular session of congress has not been abandoned, Thompson said: "In our tariff work, this association has always operated openly and with the courage to voice its conviction and the candor and sincerity which enlist public confidence. We stand on a fair and just principle of tariff protection, namely, the measure of difference in living standards and wage scales between America and its competitors."

Today

League Timid, War Likely. Cheer Up, Britain. The Fighting B. & O. MacDonald Knows America.

By ARTHUR BRISANE. Copyright, 1929 by King Features Syndicate, Inc.

PROFESSOR BARNES, of Smith college, says there are more causes for war now than there were in 1914 and greater danger of war, and the League of Nations is too timid to do much. Borah, not Kellogg, wrote the Paris peace pact. A Chicago lawyer, Salmon O. Levinson, invented it.

And Barnes agrees with Prof. Borah, of Yale, that the Kellogg pact, in cold reality, "contains the first international indorsement and moral recognition of certain forms of war."

THE learned Barnes says the next 50 years will decide whether democracy or dictatorship shall survive.

That has already been decided 1,000 times. When finally decided, democracy will win. Dictators die, democracy lives on, always ready to bob up.

If you think the League of Nations can do anything ask yourself why it does not stop Russia's attack on China, with poor China yelling for help.

The answer is that the league is afraid of Russia. Nations in the league would not dare send their men to get killed for China's sake. The men would not go.

They hope this foolish country will do that. But it will not.

BUT we shall soon be in the world court, with "reservations" that have no force. And the next step will be costly trouble.

You might write your two United States senators what you think about it. If you happen to know their names. But that probably would do no good.

WE are destined to get a little more international education. The last session cost us ten billions and fifty billions spent on ourselves and our one dollar a year patrioteers.

We ought to stay out of the league, and out of the world court, and attend to our own business. But we shall not do that.

W. E. Wells Called To Washington By President Hoover

PROSPERITY AID

W. E. Wells, head of the Homer Laughlin China company, Newell, will attend the prosperity conference of 200 business and industrial leaders, called by President Hoover, in Washington Thursday morning.

Wells, secretary-treasurer of the Homer Laughlin China company, Newell; spokesman for the American general ware industry and tariff expert, will represent ceramic manufacturers at a conference of 200 industrial and business representatives, called by President Hoover, in Washington Thursday morning.

Invitation to the conference, one of a series being held by the nation's chief executive to stabilize manufacturing, building and business activity during 1930, was received by Wells in a telegram from President Hoover and later confirmed by letter.

He will leave tonight for Washington and will attend a dinner which will be held by the United States Chamber of Commerce in the capital tomorrow night. Wells is national councillor of the East Liverpool Chamber of Commerce.

Organized labor representatives and public utilities have already attended previous conferences held by Hoover to make "business heads during 1930."

Because of the Washington call, Wells will not attend the fifty-first annual convention of the United States Potters' association which opened in the Hollenden hotel, Cleveland, today.

FIVE PLANES COMB OHIO FOR MISSING FLIER

Pilot Nelson Believed Trapped by Cold Wave.

FIND NO TRACE

Airman Passed Safely Through "Hell Stretch."

CLAIRON, Pa., Dec. 3.—(INS)—Five planes from Clairon set out again this morning to take up the search for mail pilot Thomas P. Nelson, missing since early yesterday morning.

The belief is growing here that Nelson must have passed safely through Pennsylvania's "hell stretch" and that he was forced down in Ohio's rugged terrain between the Pennsylvania state line and Cleveland. Twelve planes searching every bit of the terrain from here to the state line had failed to find a single trace of a wrecked plane.

It has been definitely established that Nelson passed over Knox, ten miles west of here, with Judge Baker, a newspaperman, reporting that he saw the mail plane between 1 and 1:30 a. m. yesterday on his way home to that point.

Reports of residents who heard a hum like that of an airplane over Clintonville, Pa., shortly after Nelson left here have strengthened the belief that he managed to struggle through the blinding storm in this section and that he was forced down nearer his destination at Cleveland than here.

59 Pupils Present Program in Newell

NEWELL, W. Va., Dec. 3.—The musical feature, "Wedding of the Painted Doll," presented by 59 children of the Sixth Street school, East Liverpool, was given at last night's meeting of the Newell Community club in the W. E. Wells high school building, Washington street.

The program included: "Wedding of the Painted Doll"—Pupils of the Sixth Street school, directed by Misses Irene Wilhelm and Bee Griffith.

Reading—"The Basque Doll"—Mary Louise Axley.

Violin and Piano Duet—Margaret and Thomas Nathaniel.

Address—"Club Activities"—W. H. Wilhelm.

Address—Elements that make for Success—Rev. B. W. Kossack, pastor of First Presbyterian church.

Musical selections—William Adams' Black Diamonds—William Adams, Eugene Fisher, A. L. Babb, Delbert McLain and Edward Cumberly.

Kenneth Wright Honored At Dinner

Kenneth Wright, Jefferson street, president of the Epworth League of the Pennsylvania Avenue Methodist Episcopal church, was elected treasurer of the East Liverpool Young People's Federation at the annual dinner in the East End church last night.

One hundred members attended the dinner which was served by the Ladies' Aid society. Franklin McCoy, president of the Crossnore School, Inc., of Crossnore, N. C., gave a history of his life, stressing the value of hard work, and told how the school, of which he is president, was organized.

An exhibition of bird calls and whistling by McCoy and a violin solo by Jennie Alamo were features of the program. Leland Pittinger presided.

Refund Fares In December

No matter how you come to East Liverpool to do your shopping—by railroad, street car, bus or your own automobile your fare will be refunded every shopping day during December.

GRANTED LEAVE

A three-month leave of absence with pay, beginning January 1, 1930, was granted Chief of Police John W. Moore, by city council last night, upon recommendation of Service-Safety Director J. W. McDermott.

McDermott will spend the winter in Florida for the benefit of his health.

POLICE CHIEF, ILL, TO VISIT SUNNY SOUTH

Three-month Leave is Granted H. J. McDermott.

LEAVES JAN. 1

Council Approves Safety Director's Suggestion.

Upon recommendation of Service-Safety Director John W. Moore, city council last night granted Chief of Police McDermott a three-month leave of absence with pay, beginning January 1, 1930.

McDermott, in ill health, will leave early next month for Florida, where he will spend his 90-day vacation.

The police department head, Moore's communication to council said, "has been troubled for several winters with a complication in the way of a throat affliction and a vacation in the south for one winter will probably eradicate it."

"The chief has taken no summer vacation for two years," the statement continued. "Thus a month is due him from this source. He has rendered efficient service for 29 years and it would seem that such a request is well merited."

Resolution, instructing the service-safety director to grant the chief the three-month leave, was passed on three readings by unanimous vote.

Salary Boost on Second Reading.

Ordinance, increasing the salary of the service-safety director from $1,600 to $2,400 a year, placed on first reading two weeks ago, was approved on second reading by a vote of 5 to 2. Councilmen Ferguson and Altman dissenting. Members Green, Lindell, Frost, Hughes and Fleming voted yes. After passing the measure on second reading, council voted to defer further action until the next meeting on December 16.

Ordinance, sponsored by the Pennsylvania railroad, providing for the removal of the watchman at the St. Clair avenue Horn Switch crossing, was passed on first reading. Councilmen Green, Lindell, Hughes and Ferguson voted yes, while Members Altman,

70 MINISTERS IN CITY FOR NAZARENE MEET

Pittsburgh District Session Opens Tonight.

FOUR-DAY RALLY

Kansas City Editor Will be Among Speakers.

With noted clergymen listed among the speakers, 70 pastors arrived here today for the annual four-day "preachers' meeting" of the Pittsburgh district of the Nazarene church.

The convention, which will be held in the First Church of the Nazarene, St. Clair and Lincoln avenues, will open at 7:30 o'clock tonight with an address by the Rev. Dr. H. O. Wiley of Kansas City, Mo., editor of the Herald of Holiness, the denomination's official publication. He will be introduced by the Rev. Warren Jones, of Alliance, district superintendent, and the latter will be presented by the Rev. O. L. Benedum, East Liverpool pastor.

College Choir On Program.

Among others who will deliver addresses will be the Rev. Dr. John Knapp, of the Eastern Nazarene college, Boston, Mass., and the Rev. C. B. Jernigan, southern evangelist; Major John Russell, Pittsburgh; Rev. Dr. J. H. Sloan; the Rev. W. S. Posey, Youngstown; the Rev. L. W. Collier, Cleveland; the Rev. C. C. Forsyth, Canonsville, Pa.; H. A. Park, Butler, Pa., and others.

Two district superintendents from other states will be in attendance. They are: the Rev. John Miller of New York, and the Rev. William Quinn, of Indiana. They live in New York city and Indianapolis, respectively, and thus rank with the Rev. Warren Jones, superintendent of the Pittsburgh, Pa., district who lives in Alliance.

Largest Church in District.

The presence of the ministers of the district in East Liverpool will be the first occasion they have ever assembled here. They will convene in the largest Nazarene church in the Pittsburgh district. The East Liverpool church has a membership of 530. The next congregation in size is that in Akron, of which a former East Liverpool man, the Rev. Dr. J. H. Sloan, is pastor.

There will be special music by the church's choir which is directed by Mrs. O. L. Benedum.

Man, Ill, Rescued When Home Burns

Frank Addis, 50, father of Howard Addis, Middleton township farmer, was rescued when the latter's home, about two miles south of Rogers, was destroyed by fire Sunday, it developed today.

The elder Addis, who has been ill, was carried to the home of a neighbor by his son and grandson. The property loss, estimated at $5,000, was partially covered by insurance.

Smallpox Outbreak Feared in Jail

Seven prisoners in the city jail may be placed under a smallpox quarantine today if Frank Hutchinson, West Eighth street, one of the number, is found to be suffering from the disease.

Hutchinson, who was ill, was arrested on a liquor charge last night after police found a gallon of liquor at his home.

Health Commissioner Dr. Edward Miskall and Sanitary Inspector D. J. McKeever were to visit the jail today to examine Hutchinson.

Nation's Chieftain Asks 'Good Citizens' To Heed Mandates

President, Giving Account of Stewardship in First Annual Message to Congress, Reports General State of Nation—Economically, Financially, and From International Standpoint—is Excellent.

LAW ENFORCEMENT, HE DECLARES, "IS FAR FROM SATISFACTORY"

Referring Specifically to Prohibition, He Again Sounds Clarion Call for Upholding Constitution, Asserting Steady Growth of Crime is Most Serious Issue Before American People.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 3.—(INS)—President Hoover informed congress today that the most serious issue before the American people is the steady growth of lawlessness.

In his first annual message, giving an account of his stewardship in the White House for nine months and affording a peek into the future, the president reported that the general state of the nation—economically, financially, and from an international standpoint—is excellent.

But law enforcement, he declared, "is far from satisfactory" and "these conditions must be remedied."

He referred specifically to prohibition, and as in his inaugural address last March he sounded again a clarion call for law observance by all classes of society, particularly by so-called "good citizens."

"We can no longer," he said, "gloss over the unpleasant reality that he who condones or traffics with crime, who is indifferent to it and to punishment of the criminal, is himself the most effective agency for the breakdown of society. It is the most serious issue before our people."

Proposed Remedial Measures.

So far as prohibition itself is concerned, Mr. Hoover again proposed some of the remedial measures he put forward last March—the transfer of enforcement from the treasury to the department of justice; simplification of court procedure to speed up trials; and codification of prohibitory laws to eliminate red tape—but in the final analysis he conceded that the principal remedy lies with the people themselves.

"Law," he observed, "cannot rise above its source in good citizenship—in what right-minded men most earnestly believe and desire."

It was noted with some significance, however, that the president did not mention, let alone endorse, the Sheppard bill which would make the buyer of liquor a felon along with the seller. Nor did he recommend any greater appropriation from the treasury to reinforce the army of agents now trying to enforce the law.

The blot of lawlessness was the principal, virtually the only one, which Mr. Hoover found in the pleasant picture of national conditions.

Business Basically Sound.

He reported business basically sound, so much so, in fact, that it is safe to immediately cut federal taxes to the extent of $100,000,000, benefiting all classes.

The outlook for international peace and reduction of armament never was better, he said; he asserted agricultural conditions are vastly improved; that railways are in a sound condition; and that generally speaking, the American people are better off today than they have ever been, in a material sense.

"The problems we are confronted with," he said, "are the problems of growth and progress."

It was a voluminous message which Mr. Hoover transmitted to the new congress, and it contained recommendations on more than a score of problems, ranging from fiscal affairs to social service.

Urges Action on Tariff Bill.

On the tariff, which congress wrestled unsuccessfully with all summer, he reiterated his desire for a tariff beneficial primarily to agriculture and to "sick industries," but he refrained again from expressing any opinion upon the original house bill with its high and general increases in industrial rates.

He quoted at some length from his message to the special session last April on the tariff, said he saw no reason to change his views as therein expressed, and only added that "it would be most helpful if action should be taken at an early moment." He did say, however, he wanted the flexible provision maintained. The senate has knocked out that provision in the pending bill, in defiance of his wishes.

DAYTON Woman Drinks Poison

DAYTON, O., Dec. 3.—(INS)—Leaving a note asking her husband to take good care of their two children, Mrs. Bessie Stewart, 38-year-old despondent wife, today had ended her life, police said, by drinking a potion of poison.

HINT COOLIDGE FOR SENATE

Former President May Seek Gillett's Place.

By GEORGE R. HOLMES. WASHINGTON, Dec. 3.—(INS)—Senator Calvin Coolidge of Massachusetts!

Washington was eagerly speculating on this possibility today as a result of the announcement by the veteran senator, Frederic H. Gillett, that he will not be a candidate to succeed himself next year. Gillett is 79 years old, has been in congress continuously for 35 years and has decided to retire.

The retirement of Gillett undoubtedly opens the door to a Coolidge candidacy. Of that the politicians of the capital are certain.

Whether the former president will "choose" to take advantage of the opening remains to be seen. Some political authorities here believe he will—provided he is given sufficient assurance that he will have no opposition for the nomination, and provided further that conditions are sufficiently favorable to indicate Republican success in Massachusetts next November.

The outstanding senatorial threat against Gillett in Massachusetts has been for some time former Governor Alvin T. Fuller. His friends have understood that he planned to run for the senate next year, irrespective of whether Gillett retired or not, and not a few politicians both here and in the Bay state have been inclined to the belief that Fuller would have defeated Gillett in a primary contest for the nomination.

ENDED HEAD COLD CAUSED BY TRYING TO START CAR

Doctor Showed Quickest Way to End Cold and Help Avoid Risk of Pneumonia

Acting on the advice of his doctor, Charles V. Hutchins, like so many East Liverpool people, has found the quickest, safest and most pleasant way to end a cold instead of enduring needless misery.

When Mr. Hutchins went to start his car several nights ago the starter got stuck. Working for more than an hour to get it started, he became so overheated that his clothes were wet with perspiration. Instead of cooling off gradually, he jumped into the open car, hurried through the chilly air to his appointment and developed a severe, feverish cold.

The following evening he called his doctor who advised Ayer's Pectoral. Taking a tempting half-spoonful every 15 minutes, as directed, he was able to sleep without coughing. He continued the treatment and in a day or so, the doctor reports, his cold had disappeared entirely.

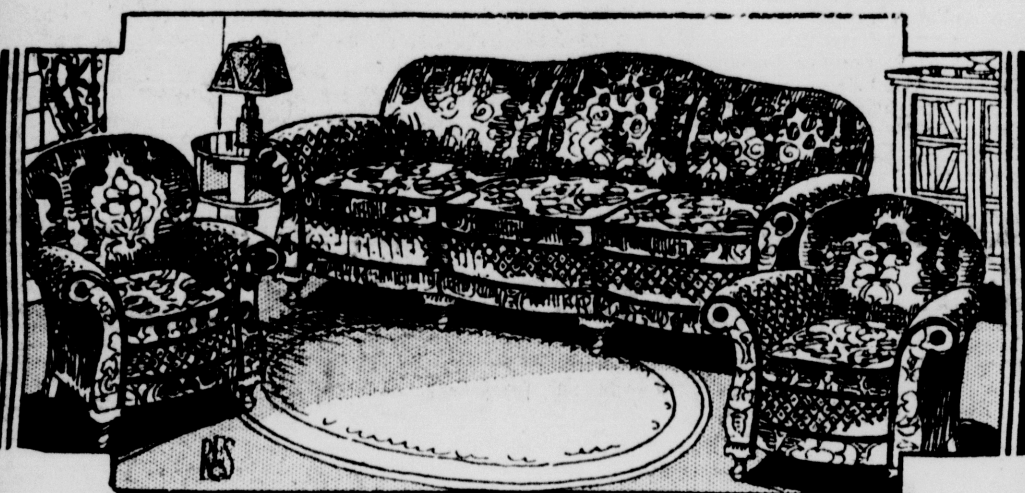

Note: See other cases being reported daily in this paper—all certified by the attending physician.

Ayer's Pectoral was hospital certified as the best of different widely used methods tested for head colds, coughs and chest colds because it gave the quickest, surest relief, with absolute safety. It is now featured by all leading druggists.

NEW LONDON.—Alumnae of the Connecticut College for Women have been engaged in a movement to have the name changed in order to avert a disposition to consider the institution as coming under state endowment. Dr. Katherine Blunt, new president of the college, has come to the aid of these who want the name kept. She insists the name is proper, and has revealed the fact that less than twenty of the 560 students now in the college have scholarships to aid them.

"They work while you sleep"

When the bowels need help there is nothing like Cascarets; nothing more efficient, nothing so good for the system. Any doctor can confirm these facts.

Candy Cascarets give you pure cascara in a most pleasant form. Take one tonight. See how fine you feel all next day. Without discomfort and without harmful effects this gentle laxative cleanses the whole thirty feet of bowels. Cascarets never produce that nauseous feeling usually associated with the use of laxatives. And their action is so natural that there is no danger of forming the laxative habit. You can take them as often as you please—give them freely to children as old folks.

A coated tongue or a laden caret. Or a sick headache, or any sluggish feeling; any time you believe the liver and bowels are not functioning fully, Cascarets will sweep away accumulations in the lower bowel. They are sweetened with pure cane sugar and flavored with real licorice, making them the ideal laxative for children.

Full medical endorsement proves their principle is right; the use of 20 million packages a year proves their effectiveness.

Pottery Tariff Increase Needed

With the hope that the regular session of congress will recognize the justice of their appeal for greater protection against the inroads of foreign ceramic products, made by cheap labor, the United States Potters' association, representing 631 kilns in general ware plants in North America, opened its fifty-first annual convention in Cleveland today.

At the same time the two houses of congress were getting down to business in Washington, following the opening yesterday of what is expected to be a lengthy session in which the chief problem will be enactment of a tariff bill.

As retiring President Malcolm W. Thompson pointed out today in his annual report at the opening of the general ware manufacturers' session, final decision has not been reached on the pottery industry's request for increased duty on china and earthenware. Hope is still entertained that the senate will grant some relief.

The attitude of the industry on the tariff appeal is well put by the retiring chieftain, who says: "We stand on a fair and just principle of tariff protection, namely: the measure of protection which will represent the difference in living standards and wage scales between America and its competitors." In other words, the pottery manufacturers, supported by the National Brotherhood of Operative Potters, ask fair play.

East Liverpool, dependent in a great measure on the industry, hopes that congress will establish sufficient tariff safeguards to permit the American pottery manufacturers to compete with the foreign manufacturers in the domestic market. Tariff protection is necessary if the ceramic industry is to prosper.

Achievement

Everyone in the United States knows who Commander Richard E. Byrd is and what he has done. Newspaper readers have followed his trip to the South Arctic region eagerly and there was universal rejoicing when the radio message came that the valiant explorer had succeeded in his ambition—a flight over the South Pole. He is now the only man who has ever flown over both poles and one of two who has seen the South Pole. The other was Amundsen, who made the perilous journey on foot with a dog team.

There are many who do not understand why this young man should risk his life and those of the men under his command in the expedition to accomplish such a feat. There is no better answer to such a query than to remember that Commander Byrd's expedition has attracted some of the most virile characters of the decade. With him are a group of men who represent probably the highest type of explorer ever to embark upon a similar expedition. Theirs is the joy of achievement, if they win, the satisfaction of worthy effort, if they lose.

The world has become protected. Frontiers have been pushed back and possibilities of pioneering have become fewer and fewer. And, as the number has decreased, the glory has increased. Lindbergh pioneered and won greater fame than any of the men who explored the North American continent, yet his achievement was no more hazardous and required but a small fraction of the patience exerted by his forefathers.

Commander Byrd has discovered little of immediate value. He has merely demonstrated his superiority by commanding an expedition, four members of which did something that no group of men has ever done before. He has soared where men once plodded. His achievement is a symbol of the new era of travel.

Ride At Your Own Risk

The supreme court of the United States has upheld a Connecticut law designed to protect motor car owners and liability insurance companies from being made victims of hitchhikers and other guest passengers.

This stand was taken in denying an appeal from a decree handed down by the supreme court of Connecticut to Mrs. Mae Silver who sued her husband for injuries she sustained when the family car crashed into a telegraph pole. Impressed with the audacity of the damages sought by the aggrieved lady passenger, the supreme court went even further than a denial of her plea and advised other states to emulate Connecticut's stand on the question.

In this day of almost universal highway transportation by motor car, declares the court in its opinion read by Justice Harlan F. Stone, "abuses originating in the multiplicity of suits growing out of the gratuitous carriage of passengers in automobiles present so conspicuous an example of what the legislatures may regard as an evil to justify legislation aimed at it."

The justice of such an attitude is easy of understanding. It is consistent with other common practices that a gratuitous passenger should assume responsibility for what happens while he is riding. The hitchhiker's welcome has long since been worn out and the fact that he may seek to collect damages after soliciting charity makes him even more unwelcome. The imposition worked on insurance companies is readily apparent.

HASKIN LETTER DAILY

By Frederic J. Haskin

WASHINGTON, D. C., Dec. 3.—The conduct of the United States government's business is expensive and, according to many critics, especially during political campaigns, unnecessarily wasteful. That seems to be a matter of opinion rather than of established fact as the ultimate effects of governmental work are difficult to assess, oftentimes being spread over an extended period of years. What would seem to be a case beyond dispute in which governmental work has brought about a tremendous saving to the taxpayers as well as a long advance in scientific work and national defense is furnished by the Bureau of Mines in connection with its researches and accomplishments in the production of helium.

Helium is the mysterious gas which is invaluable for lighter-than-air dirigibles. Being both non-explosive and non-inflammable yet having a great lifting power, it is capable of reducing the destruction of expensive aircraft and loss of life to a minimum. Helium gas, however, is a rare gas found only in a few places. How rare can be judged by the fact that when it first was discovered and its use begun by the military, the enormous price of $1,000 per cubic foot was paid by the government. Such a price made the filling of a balloon containing many thousands of cubic feet almost prohibitive. The price was so high that even for laboratory experimentation helium was a luxury.

The Bureau of Mines set to work with the result that means of producing helium gas for 2 cents per cubic foot have been perfected. It would be difficult to find a drop in the price of any other commodity so fantastic as a decrease from $1,000 per unit to 2 cents. Money has been spent in bringing about this miracle, obviously. In the fiscal year just completed the bureau had an appropriation of $1,259,876 direct from congress and a supplemental sum of $30,000 paid by the Army and Navy for helium. A surplus was on hand, out of the helium investigations budget for the year, amounting to $121,000 and this will be available for continuing investigations.

While this expense is large, it is a trifle compared with the economic saving effected in reducing the cost from $1,000 to 2 cents. Furthermore, $1,059,757 of the sums the bureau had in hand for this work during the last year went into plant construction and maintenance. Obviously this is an expense which will not have to be repeated immediately, the plants being useful for some years to come. Also, the saving due to the price must be considered as extending over all future years during which the gas is employed. Such a computation would bring the cost down to a point where it would appear negligible.

The benefit to the nation accruing from the availability of this gas for purposes of national defense is not calculable in dollars and cents but if future defense is to be carried on in the air the relative value can be sensed to some extent. Moreover, if the use of lighter-than-air craft such as the Graf Zeppelin in commercial flying be taken into consideration some idea of the great stride made can be realized.

The scientific attainment involved is especially noteworthy. These government scientists and engineers, working for salaries which are merely a fraction of those paid by private industrial corporations, have achieved a feat which has not been equalled by any others in the world, although in all principal military and industrial nations work has been going forward with helium experimentation.

There are two plants. One was first erected at North Worth, Texas, by the Navy Department in 1921 but in 1925 was turned over to the Bureau of Mines. A new plant has since been erected at Cony near Amarillo, Texas. It is not entirely completed but when it is running at full capacity, the Bureau declares the cost will be still further reduced to 1.12 cents per cubic foot.

Helium is a natural gas but found in combination with other petroleum gases. The first problem of the bureau has been to locate the fields where the gases rising contain a sufficient content of helium to make extraction practical. The Pirolla Field near North Worth bears this gas but not in as satisfactory quantities as the Cliffside structure in Potter county near Amarillo. There the gas is found in considerable abundance. It then is the province of the separation plant to extract the helium from the whole bulk of the gas obtained and store it. The Soucy plant shipped its first carload of helium to Langley field, Virginia, consigned to the Army Air Station there, on May 6, 1929.

Questions and Answers.

By Frederic J. Haskin.

Q. How long ago did Fritz Scheff open in "Mile. Modiste"? P. H. H.

A. It is twenty-five years since the first production of "Mile. Modiste" and twenty-nine since Miss Scheff sang at the Metropolitan.

Q. How old was Edna Millay when she wrote "Renascence"? W. T.

A. She was nine.

Q. When were patents first given as protection to inventors? J. G. G.

A. In very early times in England the reigning prince considered himself entitled to grant privileges of the nature of monopolies to any one who had gained his favor. These grants became so numerous, oppressive, and unjust, that during the reign of James I (1603-25) a statute was wrong from the King declaring all grievances and inconvenient enactment of all letters, patents, grants, and privileges of the "sole working or making of any manner of new manufactures within the realm to the true and first inventor." Upon these words hangs the whole law of letters and patents for inventions.

Q. Where is the longest telephone cable connection? M. E.

A. The longest telephone cable connection at the present time is that extending from Boston to New York, Pittsburgh, Chicago, and beyond. This cable connection is, however, made up of relatively short sections, the sections terminating at repeater stations. A trans-Atlantic submarine telephone single conductor cable is planned, but not yet laid.

NEW YORK DAY BY DAY

By O. O. McIntyre.

NEW YORK, Dec. 3. — In the archives of the Rogues' Gallery are carefully catalogued 15,000 men and women who have no means of support save outwitting susceptible along the Gay Gulch. They are the fast workers in a fast-living world.

Now and then they fall afoul the law and are snagged for a short prison term, but not often. Their traps are so obvious the victims are ashamed to squawk and that is why such rascals flourish. Police know them well, but unless they "catch them cold" nothing can be done.

The eel-like creatures are known by underworld sobriquets of Flash Harry, Straw Hat Willie, Dapper Dan, Mickey the Dude, Savannah Sam, Diamond Kid and so on. They are the glib and glossy port on the chop house tables or in a speakeasy back room.

Sleekly barbered, highly perfumed and blatant, they have a disarming manner among the glib. Thimble-rigging, phoney dice or badger games are not their forte. They specialize in smooth trickeries that make a victim feel such a sucker he would pay them to keep it quiet.

Within a week, a gentleman by no means dumb to the ways of Broadway fell in with one of the guild. Several days later he was approached for a loan on a diamond ring. That is a very old one—and he smiled. But he was persuaded to have the ring appraised.

He was plotted to a nearby jeweler who said the ring was easily worth $1,000. The owner only wanted $300 and because of sentiment did not want to pawn it. He got the $300 and later the ring was discovered to be worth about $25. The jeweler, who aids in such film-fames, denied ever seeing the ring.

In the same fashion, Broadway insiders know about the playwright who authors slick crook plays and the "planted" pearl in an oyster. The "discoverer" took it to the jeweler accompanied by the playwright with whom he had been dining. And the playwright jumped at the chance to buy it for $800. It was worth $5.

Dudley Field Malone seems to be the only Brummel have enough to attend the theater in an opera coat with an Inverness cape. Furthermore the cape is lined with white satin—the big Irish dude!

Don Clarke's dedicatory salute in his new volume, "Louis Beretti" is: "To Gladys. Every author should have a Gladys to keep his mind off his work."

"Would it be possible for a poor but beautiful lady to make The 400?" writes Shop Girl. Not collectively.

YOUR HEALTH

An Ounce of Prevention is Worth a Pound of Cure.

By Dr. Royal S. Copeland

In the steamer chair next to mine is a fine old gentleman; 87 years of age. He is crossing the ocean for the sixtieth time. To-day I found him in reminiscent mood, bubbling over with most interesting stories.

Ocean travel today is far different from what it was a half century ago. It is joy now. It must have been agony then. I am writing this on a great liner that can traverse the distance from the English Channel to New York in a trifle more than four days. It was far different in the olden days.

My friend began his travels when it took weeks instead of days. Not only was the speed less, but the living and sanitation of that time were in marked contrast with the cleanliness and health protecting methods of today.

On one of these trips, in 1866 I believe, the old gentleman faced cholera. There were 1,300 persons on the crowded ship when the terrible disease was discovered. Almost immediately the vessel turned back to Liverpool, which port it had left three days before. Before it could land 300 persons had died.

I inquired what was done to protect the rest of the passengers. "We were told not to drink beer," my neighbor said. "Then he added in plaintive tones, 'I must go to follow this advice.'"

There is no doubt that food and drink are the usual carriers of cholera germs. Without considering the merits or demerits of beer as a beverage, it is extremely doubtful that it ever carried cholera, no matter what else it may have done to the human faculty.

Unden food, food contaminated by unclean hands, caused that epidemic, as it has produced many another. "One of the privileges of modern times is our remarkable freedom from such infections."

Typhoid fever is like cholera in the way it reaches us. Long ago we learned that milk and water from clean sources and conveyed in their original state of purity, give a guaranty of health.

Almost the only ailment commonly traceable in these days to contaminated food is diarrhea. Various of the simple intestinal disturbances may be due to such preventable causes.

You cannot afford to take chances on the raw foods. The ones that are cooked are made safe by the heating. Those that we serve as they are purchased must be selected with great care.

It was the neglect of such precautions that made possible the cholera trouble of 1866 and of all other years. My friend who is enjoying splendid health at an advanced age, is far safer now than he was in the olden days.

Getting Around the Law.

Over in England, where they have long boasted of their respect for law, a judge showed the other day how to get around the law and make possible publication of the facts brought out at a divorce trial.

For several years the law has been in force forbidding the publication of testimony at divorce trials, but it does not apply to the charge of the judge to the jury. Judge Merrivale, in charging the jury in a case involving titled persons, dwelt much upon the testimony brought out, told what it was and used the names of persons who figured in it. The judge later explained his charge, saying:

"I've stated these facts because in my judgment it is not in the public interest that social crimes of this kind should be committed and that particulars of the offense should be known to the world in which the people live. One of the deterrents to misconduct is publicity."

The court saw to it that the way was opened for publicity which was given in this case, although in all others the law forbidding the publication of testimony has so far been respected.

The people of this country where there are numerous ways of getting around the law will wonder what the attitude of the English will be toward this manner of charging a jury which in effect sets aside a law for an occasion. At any rate, the English stand for publicity is emphasized, despite the law to suppress it.—Minneapolis Journal.

BROKEN-HEARTED.

P. S. Please do not get this letter wrong. My wife is not of the flapper type of woman, she has any bad habits. A hard worker and very true and loyal to me.

BROKEN-HEARTED: From your description of conditions, it would seem that your wife's infatuation is but a passing phase. Her willingness to stand by you and her desire to keep you from undue worry and distress would indicate that.

It would perhaps be best, if you could without damaging your prospects or present conditions, locate in an entirely different neighborhood, with nothing to remind you of this unfortunate episode. I feel sure that if appealed to in an earnest and straightforward manner, that your wife will prove her devotion to you by leaving her place of business in order to refrain from meeting the man under discussion.

DEAR ANNIE LAURIE:

I am a girl of 16 and in high school.

I have gone with a young man three years my senior for over six months. He gave me two valuable gifts during this time.

I thought there was some one else I loved, but I soon found out my mistake. Since it was my fault, is it my place to write to him and tell him I am sorry?

He is going with my girl friend and I see him quite often, but he never asks me for a date.

If we never make up is it my place to keep these gifts?

WONDERING WHAT TO DO: WONDERING WHAT TO DO: You have so plainly shown the young man your fickle nature that you can hardly expect him to entertain the same feeling for you as before. Yes, you should return the gifts. Remember in future to be more sure of yourself before doing anything which you will later regret and cause unhappiness to others.

Her Heart To One—Her Pity...

Nestling secure in the arms of her husband, Ann Harding nevertheless finds it in her heart to pity the sincere young lover who lost in the battle for her hand. Fredric March plays the husband, Leslie Fenton the unsuccessful suitor, in Pathe's "Paris Bound," from the play by Philip Barry.

Now showing at the State.

The Theaters

Charlotte Walker
In "Paris Bound"

The modern mother, impeccably dressed, carefully groomed, young looking and mentally alert, is portrayed by Charlotte Walker in "Paris Bound," a Pathe dialogue picture which opened a run at the State theater yesterday.

This role marks the talking picture debut of Miss Walker, who has been a noted stage actress for the past twenty years. Her only other screen appearance was made in "Annapolis," in which she portrayed the role of Jeannette Lott's mother.

In "Paris Bound" Miss Walker "mothers" Frederic March, who plays the leading man's role oppo-

"Gold Diggers"
Hit At American

Warner Bros. new all-color, all-talking, singing and dancing Vitaphone picture, "Gold Diggers of Broadway," was acclaimed at the American theater last night as top notch screen entertainment in the new style—talking and singing and dancing amid a riot of colors as gay and bright as the rainbow can display.

"Gold Diggers of Broadway" is first of all a good comedy. It has most of the smart comedy dialogue that made Avery Hopwood's play, on which it was founded, such a hit. Nine new songs and a show-within-show, in which the songs are sung, were interpolated, a chorus of 100 dancing and singing, dazzling Hollywood beauties, engaged and the color cameras set to grinding. The result is entertainment de luxe which sets a new goal for other pictures to aim at.

Of the nine songs composed by Al Dubin and Joe Burke for "Gold Diggers of Broadway," the favorites with last night's audience seemed to be "Painting the Clouds With Sunshine," "Tiptoe Through the Tulips With Me," "The Song of the Gold Diggers," with the dancing chorus, and Ann Pennington's "Mechanical Man" and "Still They Fall in Love." Half of the songs fell to the lot of Nick Lucas, radio and phonograph star, the "crooning troubadour," who makes his screen debut in this production.

"Sweetie" Termed
"Jazz-Riot Panic"

"Sweetie," which opened a three-day run at the Ceramic theater yesterday, is a "jazz-riot panic." Nancy Carroll plays the title role. She is a chorus girl who falls heir to the Pelham prep school for boys. Her boy friend, Stanley Smith, is a student at Pelham. He refuses to leave the captaincy of Pelham's football team to join Nancy on the stage. She gets peeved at this and as ruler of the school she tries to have him dismissed for delinquency in studies. Then someone enlightens her on the true meaning of school spirit and Pelham wins the great football game over the traditional rival team. That in brief is the plot. It is all "Joe Cleege" and a campus wide. Every inch of it is crammed with hot-foot dancing, ear-tickling singing, rib-racking funning and rousing thrills, new and catchy tunes.

Jack Oakie, one of the newest wisecrackers of the new all-talking picture firmament, grabs great honors as "Tap-Tap" Thompson, the vodvil hooper who goes "Cleege" and sings a riotous mammy-song-blatter burlesque called "Alma Mamma" at the graduation exercises. Helen Kane is just herself—a riot within a riot, when she sings "He's So Unusual," Nancy Carroll is lovable and sweet when she sings "Sweetest Than Sweet," a gorgeous popular melody, bound to be heard soon everywhere.

The Port de Guise, the famous old gateway at Calais, France, which was threatened with demolition, has been saved by the government by being classed as an historic monument.

COTS SOUGHT
FOR LODGERS
AT CITY HALL

Salvation Army Will
Open Third Floor
Dormitory.

BLANKETS ASKED

No Funds to Pay
For Rooms in Hotels.

Cots will be placed in the third floor room in city hall, Third and Market streets, for men seeking employment, if plans outlined today by the Salvation Army and Chief of Police H. J. McDermott, materialize.

The Salvation Army issued an appeal for six cots, blankets, pillows and bed clothing to be used in the sleeping quarters. The room is the former office of the city engineer.

Men who request lodging and food will be assigned a cot for the night in the room and given hot coffee and rolls in the morning by Salvation Army workers. Because of lack of funds, the Salvation Army is unable to provide lodging at hotels for transients.

Field Major Joseph Hughes today appealed for men's clothing and shoes. Numerous applications have been received at Salvation Army headquarters. Bundles should be sent to the citadel, West Third and Market streets.

Improvement Program
At American Costs
$2,500.

Improvements costing approximately $2,500 were recently completed at the American theater, East Sixth street.

Corridors, aisles and stairways on both the orchestra and balcony floors have been covered with a rich maroon-colored Bigelow, Hartford and Saxony carpet, laid over a three-fourth inch cushion. This work was done by the Frank Crook company.

A new balustrade and red velvet curtains have been placed at the rear of the house. Back wall of the building and panels along the sides have been lined with a material known as celotex, which aids in the acoustics of the sound equipment with which the play house is equipped.

"Long Skirt" Edict
Faces Union Ban

CLEVELAND, Dec. 3.—(INS.)—The "long skirt" edict which has stirred the world of feminine fashion, is expected to be condemned at the convention of the International Ladies' Garment Workers' union here today.

The new mode, according to union leaders, has played havoc with production and they maintain that women are not favorable to long skirts. The tendency will be toward "trousers and knickers, rather than lengthened skirts, according to Benjamin Schlesinger of New York, union president.

William Green, president of the American Federation of Labor is expected to speak at one of the sessions during the week.

Harter Will Ask
Removal of Fromm

CANTON, O., Dec. 3.—(INS.)—Steps were taken today by Prosecutor Henry W. Harter, Jr., to remove Charles A. Fromm, convicted Stark county commissioner, from office.

Fromm was sentenced to serve from 18 months to 10 years in the Ohio state penitentiary Saturday in Cleveland on a charge of soliciting a bribe in connection with contracts awarded for the Molly Stark sanitarium.

Conviction on the charge automatically bars Fromm from holding public office, but the commissioner says he will remain at his post until the outcome of his appeal to a higher court is known.

Former Judge Kills Himself.

TIFFIN, O., Dec. 3.—(INS.)—Financial reverses were today held responsible for the death of Hal W. Michaels, 50, former Seneca county probate judge, attorney and automobile dealer. Michaels, police declared, shot himself in his office. An employee found his body slumped over his desk.

The old saying "You can't judge a book by its cover" certainly rings true in the case of the Paramount Picture "The Lady Lies," a dull uninteresting title that means little out, Oh, Boy what a motion picture.

Mae Tinee critic of one of the big Chicago dailies rates her pictures—her highest rating is four stars—and in her review she stated that "The Lady Lies" was the only picture she ever wanted to award FIVE STARS.

BOSTON WOMEN'S SYMPHONY ORCHESTRA HERE SUNDAY NIGHT

FIFTY talented women musicians will take part in the concert of the Boston Women's Symphony orchestra which will be presented at the Ceramic theater at 9:15 o'clock Sunday night under the auspices of the Civic Music association. It will be the first of the three attractions to be offered during the 1929-30 season.

The orchestra will be under the baton of Miss Ethel Leginska, native of England. Completing her studies at home Miss Leginska was sent to Germany and thence to Vienna where she continued her pianistic education. She then came to the United States.

As is well known, Boston, is the home of many fine musicians, both men and women. It is, likewise, the home of one of the finest orchestras in the world—the Boston Symphony orchestra. With the general trend of matters upwards and onward, the good women of Boston felt that the time had arrived when an orchestra of women was required, and this feeling was doubly engendered by the fact that Ethel Leginska was, at that time, conducting various male symphonic organizations, both in New York and Boston. With the aid of these women, the feminine musicians of Boston and its environs were called together for a conference, the result of which brought about the permanent formation of the Boston Women's Symphony orchestra, with Miss Leginska as its head.

Rehearsals immediately commenced and an initial program was rendered at Jordan hall. A second concert followed in quick order and immediate engagements ensued, which placed the orchestra musically "on its feet." The crown of success was awarded the new musical organization.

Unfortunately, orchestral music, even by the largest and most successful orchestra, is not as yet self supporting. To maintain successfully Leginska's Boston Women's Symphony orchestra it was necessary that the musical public be asked to give the new orchestra support. Contributions received were used only to pay the running expenses of the orchestra—there being no managerial or executive salaries of any kind, but it must be said that Miss Leginska and her gallant body of women musicians have achieved their high pinnacle of success mainly through their own efforts—sheer hard work—love of music.

A second season quickly followed including concerts in more distant points, a subscription series in Boston, engagements at important musical festivals and the orchestra may now be said to be firmly launched, and compare favorably with any symphonic body in the country.

Club is Entertained

When Your Cough Hangs On, Mix This at Home

The best cough remedy that money could buy, can easily be mixed at home. It saves money and gives you the most reliable, quick-acting medicine you ever used. The way it takes hold of stubborn coughs and chest colds, giving immediate relief, is astonishing.

Any druggist can supply you with 2½ ounces of Pinex. Pour this into a pint bottle, and fill up with plain granulated sugar syrup or strained honey. It's no trouble at all to mix, and when you once use it, you will never be without it. Keeps perfectly and tastes good—children really like it.

It is surprising how quickly this loosens the germ-laden phlegm, and soothes and heals the inflamed membranes. At the same time, part of the medicine is absorbed into the blood, where it acts directly on the bronchial tubes, and helps the system throw off the whole trouble. In those severe coughs which follow cold epidemics, are promptly ended.

Pinex is a highly concentrated compound of genuine Norway Pine, containing the active agent of creosote, in a reduced, palatable form. Nothing known in medicine is more helpful in cases of severe coughs, chest colds and bronchial troubles.

Do not accept a substitute for Pinex. It is guaranteed to give prompt relief or money refunded.

Scarlet Mask Club at Canton.

Rex McConnell, former East Liverpool newspaper man, will have charge of the annual holiday tour of the Ohio State University Scarlet Mask club's production "Loops, My Dear," which will appear in Canton on New Years night.

A special train will carry nearly 100 members of the Ohio state Scarlet Mask club, in addition to a 20-piece orchestra under the direction of Dick Wolfe.

LIFE-LONG GOOD VISION

Frequently among the middle aged and old appear cases of faulty sight of so long standing that it is very difficult to bring back normal vision. A postponement that means sacrificed comfort in reading and little visual pleasure in old age.

The technique and instruments of this office afford the best in helping nature, but often through thoughtless neglect in earlier life, even these means fail to achieve the desired results.

BOSTON WOMEN'S SYMPHONY ORCHESTRA HERE SUNDAY NIGHT

FIFTY talented women musicians will take part in the concert of the Boston Women's Symphony orchestra which will be presented at the Ceramic theater at 9:15 o'clock Sunday night under the auspices of the Civic Music association. It will be the first of the three attractions to be offered during the 1929-30 season.

The orchestra will be under the baton of Miss Ethel Leginska, native of England. Completing her studies at home Miss Leginska was sent to Germany and thence to Vienna where she continued her pianistic education. She then came to the United States.

As is well known, Boston is the home of many fine musicians, both men and women. It is, likewise, the home of one of the finest orchestras in the world—the Boston Symphony orchestra. With the general trend of matters upwards and onward, the good women of Boston felt that the time had arrived when an orchestra of women was required, and this feeling was doubly engendered by the fact that Ethel Leginska was, at that time, conducting various male symphonic organizations, both in New York and Boston. With the aid of these women, the feminine musicians of Boston and its environs were called together for a conference, the result of which brought about the permanent formation of the Boston Women's Symphony orchestra, with Miss Leginska as its head.

Rehearsals immediately commenced and an initial program was rendered at Jordan hall. A second concert followed in quick order and immediate engagements ensued, which placed the orchestra musically "on its feet." The crown of success was awarded the new musical organization.

Unfortunately, orchestral music, even by the largest and most successful orchestra, is not as yet self supporting. To maintain successfully Leginska's Boston Women's Symphony orchestra it was necessary that the musical public be asked to give the new orchestra support. Contributions received were used only to pay the running expenses of the orchestra—there being no managerial or executive salaries of any kind, but it must be said that Miss Leginska and her gallant body of women musicians have achieved their high pinnacle of success mainly through their own efforts—sheer hard work—love of music.

A second season quickly followed including concerts in more distant points, a subscription series in Boston, engagements at important musical festivals and the orchestra may now be said to be firmly launched, and compare favorably with any symphonic body in the country.

Club Is Entertained.
Musical Climbers' club met Saturday afternoon in the home of Miss Bernice Mylar, Harrison street, Newell. A Thanksgiving program was presented as follows:
Song, "Thanksgiving"—Members.
Piano solo, "Thanksgiving" (Gibb)—Miss Dorothy Talbot.
Piano solo, "Harvest Time" (Maxim)—Miss Garnet Gant.
Piano solo, "Harvest Dance" (Williams)—Miss Bernice Mylar.

Social hours were spent with a musical guessing contest, the trophy being awarded Mrs. Kathryn Mylar.

Refreshments were served by the hostess.

The annual Christmas party will be held December 30, in the Mylar home.

Mrs. Wilda Neal Hostess.
Mrs. Wilda Neal of Dresden avenue, entertained members of the Larkins club last night in the home of Mr. and Mrs. W. S. Cooper, Oliver avenue. Four tables of 500 were in play, trophies being awarded Mesdames May Welsh, Wilda Neal and C. A. Purinton, Joseph Hendricks and Mort Calhoun.

Stephen Richmond was a special guest of the club.

The hostess was assisted in serving refreshments by Mesdames Emma and Thelma Cooper, and Mrs. Elene Grosscross.

Mrs. W. S. Cooper of Oliver avenue, will be hostess December 16.

Entertains Cast of Play.
Miss Doris Brown of Thompson avenue last night entertained members of the cast of "A Lucky Break," the Junior High school play, which will be presented Thursday night in the high school.

Refreshments were served by the hostess, assisted by her mother, Mrs. W. E. Brown. Covers were arranged for 18 guests.

"A Lucky Break" will be presented by two casts, one on Thursday night and one on Friday.

When Your Cough Hangs On, Mix This at Home

The best cough remedy that money could buy, can easily be mixed at home. It saves money and gives you the most reliable, quick-acting medicine you ever used. The way it takes hold of stubborn coughs and chest colds, giving immediate relief, is astonishing.

Any druggist can supply you with 2½ ounces of Pinex. Pour this into a pint bottle, and fill up with plain granulated sugar syrup or strained honey. It's no trouble at all to mix, and when you once use it, you will never be without it. Keeps perfectly and tastes good—children really like it.

It is surprising how quickly this loosens the germ-laden phlegm, and soothes and heals the inflamed membranes. At the same time, part of the medicine is absorbed into the blood, where it acts directly on the bronchial tubes, and helps the system throw off the whole trouble. Even these severe coughs which follow cold epidemics, are promptly ended.

Pinex is a highly concentrated compound of genuine Norway Pine, containing the active agent of creosote, in a refined, palatable form. Nothing known in medicine is more helpful in cases of severe coughs, chest colds and bronchial troubles.

Do not accept a substitute for Pinex. It is guaranteed to give prompt relief or money refunded.

LIFE-LONG GOOD VISION

Frequently among the middle aged and old appear cases of faulty sight of so long standing that it is very difficult to bring back normal vision. A postponement that means sacrificed comfort in reading and little visual pleasure in old age.

The technique and instruments of this office afford the best in helping nature, but often through thoughtless neglect in earlier life, even these means fail to achieve the desired results.

ELKS' LODGE PLANS CHRISTMAS TREAT FOR 900 CHILDREN

SANTA CLAUS TO LIST NAMES OF ALL NEEDY

Coupons Must be Mailed Before December 15.

LOGAN CHAIRMAN

Sweaters, Stockings, Dolls, Candy to be Distributed.

Essaying the role of Santa Claus, East Liverpool lodge No. 258, R. P. O. Elks, will entertain 900 deserving children of East Liverpool, Chester and Newell at a party in the West Fifth street temple at 11 o'clock on Christmas day, it was announced today.

Exalted Ruler James A. McFadden announced the appointment of the following committee for the annual feature: Charles R. Logan, Arch Mullen, L. S. Gilmore, Albert Hohman, James Thompson and Frank Fene.

Sweaters and candy will be given each child and, in addition, each boy will receive stockings and each girl a baby doll.

Preceding the distribution of gifts from a Christmas tree in the lodge room, the children will be guests at a motion picture show in the American or State theater.

First call for names of children whom Santa Claus may overlook in his rounds on Christmas eve was issued today by Chairman Logan. Coupons, which must be returned to P. O. Box 163 before December 15, is published in today's Review.

Potters Ask Justice

retiring President Thompson said: "It is a real pleasure to the officers of this association to see such a large and representative gathering here at the 51st annual meeting. We hoped for a large attendance and it was with this object in mind that Cleveland was chosen by your executive committee as the meeting place. Evidently their decision was right."

"During this meeting the chairman of the various committees will cover in their reports the major activities of our membership. In our executive sessions there are an unusually large number of important problems to be considered. Your prompt and constant attendance at all meetings is earnestly solicited."

"In reviewing the past year, it is hardly necessary for me to cover the general conditions throughout the country. We are all familiar with these. I will confine myself to the facts which are directly connected with the industry and in which we are most deeply interested."

"We all regret the loss to this association during the year of three semiporcelain plants and one china factory through business failure or voluntary closing. We now have an active membership of 38 companies, with a total capacity of 631 kilns. This loss in plant capacity is the result of a vast number of contributing causes, by far the most important of which is the ever increasing flood of china and earthenware from foreign countries. The latest available statistics as published in the 'Monthly Summary of Foreign Commerce of the United States' shows a continued increase in the importations of those wares coming into direct competition with our products of 8.4 per cent for the first nine months of 1929, as compared with the same period of 1928. The increases in importations are becoming monotonous in their regularity."

Tariff Aid Urged.

Your tariff committee, which was selected at the annual meeting last year, has been exceedingly active in its endeavors to have an increase in rates written into the Hawley-Smoot bill, an increase which will mean salvation to a large part of this industry. This association is to be congratulated on the splendid way in which our case was presented to the house ways and means committee and the senate finance committee. We have all received printed copies of the report of these hearings, so I need not dwell on this point. We were actively supported by the National Brotherhood of Operative Potters and through them by the American Federation of Labor. We have a real case, presented in an able manner, and should congress fail to grant the necessary relief to this industry, idle plants and unemployed potters, walking the streets will be further damning evidence of the disastrous policies of the coalition in the senate.

"Twice during the year the chairman of our tariff committee sent our questionnaires, or requests for information, to the members. This information was necessary and materially strengthened our case. Please bear in mind that nothing has been definitely settled as yet. When the senate during the regular session again considers the tariff bill, it will still be acting as a committee of the whole. To date the senate, acting as committee of the whole, has limited its consideration to those provisions of the house bill which was revised by the senate finance committee. As soon as the senate, as committee of the whole, completes its consideration of the bill, it then goes to the senate as the senate, and the entire bill, including all paragraphs which have been considered by the committee of the whole and all those not considered, are subject to reconsideration and amendment."

COUPON FOR ELKS' CHRISTMAS TREAT FOR WORTHY CHILDREN

The Elks desire the citizens of East Liverpool, Chester, Newell and Midland, to assist them in locating worthy children under 12 years of age, who will not receive any gifts at Christmas.

People owning automobiles do not need apply or send their children, because these cases will be refused.

Fill in the slip below, giving name and address, and mail to the Elks' Christmas Treat Committee, P. O. Box 163. Coupons must be in hands of Committee by Monday, December 16.

By the senate. This means that our paragraphs, No. 211 and No. 112, may or may not be again on the senate floor before the bill goes to conference. The result of this situation, of course, is that no paragraph in the bill can yet be regarded as definitely completed by the senate.

Protection is Asked.

"In our tariff work, this association has always operated openly and above board, with courage to voice its opinion and the candor and sincerity which elicits public confidence. We have, and do stand on a fair and just principle of tariff protection, namely: the measure of protection which will represent the difference in living standards and wage scales between America and its competitors."

"A note of sadness has been cast over all of us by the sudden and untimely death of William Burrows, first vice president. For more than 45 years a member of this association, and for almost 30 years our adviser on tariff matters, he worked on our problems with quiet dignity and integrity. To hear him so unjustly accused, in such an uncalled for manner, by a man in public office, protected by senate immunity, causes us to wonder at the ruthlessness of politics."

"Shortly after the annual meeting last year, your executive committee sponsored a testimonial dinner at the East Liverpool Country club in appreciation of W. E. Wells' long service as chairman of the labor committee. The guest of honor was presented with a very handsomely illuminated resolution of appreciation."

"I also wish to mention the visit of the British Ceramic society to this country in May, during which the visitors inspected many of our potteries and express their amazement at the tremendous steps we have taken to improve our products and cut the costs of production. Our British cousins were royally welcomed and feasted at many points along their route."

"With the resignation of T. A. McNicol as chairman of your executive committee, it was necessary to appoint a temporary successor to serve until the annual meeting. The executive committee selected me to fill out Mr. McNicol's unexpired term. Two other vacancies occurred in committee chairmanships and I made the following appointments: E. J. Borton, to be chairman of the manufacturers cost committee, and George C. Thompson, to be chairman of the nominating committee."

Hope for Relief.

"A very pleasant and interesting summer meeting was held at the Congress Lake Country club early in August. While no action of importance was taken, very interesting reports were heard from the tariff, transportation and research committees."

"The special advertising committee has actively worked on the problem of association advertising, trying to devise a plan which will be workable, from which there will come tangible results, which will come within the appropriation and at the same time be fair to all members. The great diversity of marketing channels through which the products of our members are sold makes the problem doubly difficult. In its report to the executive committee, the advertising committee recommended that the advertising be confined to the china and earthenware buyers and sales people in all retail fields. It was thought that any consumer advertising would be useless. By limiting the field of operations, it was hoped that such interesting and valuable information regarding the products of our members could be furnished these buyers and salespeople that they might have a greater knowledge of our business and show greater interest in our products. I suggest that committee be continued next year."

"In this association, like all other similar organizations, the real work is done by committees. Your committees have functioned efficiently and promptly in their prescribed tasks and the results accomplished mean to each one of us in dollars and cents many times our association dues and assessments."

"At this time of year, we have been still planning for next year's business. We all hope for some tariff relief. We may receive some, but that relief, if any, will not come early in the year—possibly not until the year is half-gone. Our problem is to keep our plants running at a profit in order that our employees and we may enjoy the good things of life. If I knew the real solution, needless to say I would not be talking to you today. But perhaps we can consider at this meeting some things that may affect certain angles of our problem."

Suggests More Beautiful Dishes.

"The first thing that comes to me is not by any means original. It is competition in decoration and design rather than in price. Can we not, by carefully planned efforts, create a greater desire on the part of the consumer for more and more beautiful dishes? Assuming that the average family

REPORTS FROM STOCK MARKET

By W. S. Cousin, International News Service Financial Editor.

NEW YORK, Dec. 3.—All sections of the market spurred to higher levels today under the impact of a strong buying demand which carried the speculative favorites 1 to 4 points above Monday's close, and in special cases, like that of Auburn Motor, 29 points higher.

Anticipation of an encouraging survey of domestic business and industrial conditions by President Hoover in his address to congress, improvement in basic industries, lower money rates and the splendid action of the market under professional selling yesterday, were the principal factors in bringing outside buying demand today.

The bears hammered the amusement stocks again, pounding Fox Warner and Loew's for moderate losses.

Cleveland Produce.

CLEVELAND, Dec. 3.—Butter, eggs, poultry: Butter: Extras 42c; standards 40c; market steady. Eggs: Extras 56c; firsts 47c; market steady. Live poultry: Heavy fowls 26 to 28c; medium fowls 20 to 22c; leg-horn fowls 15 to 18c; heavy broilers 25c; leghorn broilers 20c; ducks 20 to 22c; geese 20 to 22c; old cocks 18c; young turkeys 30 to 32c; old toms 25 to 27c; market steady.

Ohioan Is Killed Over 25-Cent Loss

CIRCLEVILLE, O., Dec. 3.—(INS.)—Norman Spencer, 29, a Negro, was shot through the heart and killed today by William Bass, 28, following a heated argument over a 25-cent loss in a game of dice.

Cold Snap Hits Ohio

Storm-tied Lake Erie has practically checked all its transportation. Feeling grave apprehension, shippers who have been "gambling" against winter weather, are reluctant to risk their vessels in the lake and are beginning to put in for the season.

Meanwhile, the weather continued to take its toll in accidents and deaths either directly or indirectly attributable to the cold.

Thirty-five Flee Fire.

COLUMBUS, O., Dec. 3.—(INS.)—Between 35 and 40 persons were forced to flee to the snow-covered streets in night clothes early today when a local fire from an overheated stove swept through an East Main street building which housed a clothing store and several apartments.

Henry Karns, 45, suffered a broken ankle when he jumped from a fire escape to the ground, 15 feet below.

Two small children, Mary Shipley, 7, and her brother Thomas, 6, spread the alarm. They ran through the halls of the building shouting to the residents.

The interior of the clothing store was seriously damaged.

One resident used a rope ladder which he improvised from bed sheets to effect his escape.

Gas Kills Autoist.

AKRON, O., Dec. 3.—(INS.)—Carbon monoxide gas from the exhaust of his automobile was held responsible today for the death of Charles O. Baughman, 61, secretary and treasurer of the Swinehart Tire and Rubber Co. Baughman's body was found in the garage at his home by his wife.

He had apparently been working on the machine.

Two Coasters Hurt.

MARTINS FERRY, O., Dec. 3.—(INS.)—Two small girls, aged 8 and 9, are recovering from injuries here today which they suffered when their sled was struck by an automobile yesterday. They are Vivian Oliver and Betty Kaiser.

Man Is Found Dead.

DAYTON, O., Dec. 3.—(INS.)—Examination of the body of James Fairchild, who was found dead on the downtown streets here yesterday, today disclosed that death was due to poison liquor and the exposure, according to police.

Chief Gets Leave

Fleming and Frost voted against it.

The proposal provides that one member of the switching crew shall act as flagman at the crossing when the pony engine is switching cars.

Two Claims Filed

Solicitor Hoover recommended that council defer action on the ordinance until the public utilities commission ruled on the question.

A communication from Attorney P. V. Mackall, representing Mrs. Jane R. Phillips, asking $1,500 damages alleged to have been done to his client's property by a change in the grade in Fawcett street, which was recently improved, was filed.

Bid for $25 labor which he declared had been spent in hunting for a sewer lateral in Erie street, was presented by Benjamin Ziegler. The claim was referred to the claims committee.

Legal notices of assessments for the improvement of East Eighth street and East Fourth street were ordered advertised by Clerk G. A. Shone.

Weirton Bandits Await Sentence

NEW CUMBERLAND, W. Va., Dec. 3.—Edward Kost and "Bud" Taylor, of Weirton, charged with robbery in connection with the holdup of Jack Adler, Weirton merchant, two weeks ago, in which $165 was taken, were convicted yesterday by a jury in circuit court. Judge J. Harold Brennan will sentence them this afternoon.

Principal witness for the state was Marie Redich, who was indicted with the two men.

Civil suits of Wersh Bole against Michael Konnevech, and Harold P. Fishbein against the New Cumberland Glass company, are also expected to reach the jury today.

Today

THE British, in comic opera fashion, object to American activities near the South Pole, claiming that Byrd went down there "without so much as a by-your-leave." Britain, of course, was supposed to give us leave to visit the Antarctic.

IT may comfort our interesting sometimes preposterous cousins, to know that Byrd's latest flight gives us no claim to the South Pole.

To claim new territory, the discoverer must land, plant the flag of his country on the new soil, claiming it in the name of king or government.

Only one flew around near the pole in a circle and perhaps flew over it. That does not make us owners of the pole.

HOWEVER, that is nothing to worry us in its slow, circular motion, the pole moves around, through the thousands of years, pointing at various stars, which in turn become the Polar star. In a few thousand years, today's polar regions may be warm, fertile, habitable, as they were ages ago. By that time men, by blood mixtures, may have come to form one race and one nation on this small globe, with their fighting ended.

WHEN William the Conqueror went to England, he found many nations dividing those islands. Now one nation rules there.

What happened to the British islands may happen to this larger island, the earth.

THE interstate commerce commission plans to reduce the country's railroads to 18 or 19 systems with five big trunk lines in the east.

The 19 systems are about eight too many. One would be enough, with our ablast railroad men working at it.

UNDER the calm surface of high railroad management there is an interesting struggle with Brother Willard, of the Baltimore & Ohio, said to be wicked in trying to get more than his share of the national railroad pudding.

IN the old days of Gould and Vanderbilt railroad powers fought more roughly, but no more determinedly than such men as Willard and Atterbury fight for their systems. The Pennsylvania and New York Central don't want it, don't believe it, perhaps, but some day they will wake to find Willard and the B. & O. with a Manhattan Island terminal.

THE constitution will not allow anybody not born in the United States to be president. Otherwise, if Ramsey MacDonald should tire of his job in Britain, he might make a good presidential candidate here.

He understands what this country wants, and understands George Washington's policy better than some American presidents have understood either. In the presence of Mr. Kellogg, formerly our secretary state speaking of the United States, MacDonald said:

"They certainly are not going to co-operate with us as allies bound by formal ties. They certainly are not going to commit themselves to European policy and mix themselves in European messes. No president of the United States is going to go back upon their word, their tradition, policy of keeping out of European messes."

Let us hope Mr. MacDonald will prove a good prophet, and the United States will never feel that it must entrust to a European league or a European court decisions that this country, thus far, has been able to make for itself.

From Archangel, in Northern Russia, 75 American soldiers are brought from their temporary shallow graves to be buried at home.

Those dead bodies emphasized the stupidity that sent Americans to be killed in Russia, on a quarrel not ours.

They should remind this government to keep the United States out of some other unnecessary European complications.

On another occasion, Americans would not consent so eagerly to being shipped for slaughter wherever a whim might send them.

Northcliffe said "The Americans are a very docile people." He should have added "But not twice in succession."

YOUNG men, and women, interest yourselves in gliding. William B. Mayo, Henry Ford's chief engineer, says: "Gliding is a safe method of learning to fly; a glider can be purchased for a few hundred dollars and riding in itself is a delightful and thrilling sport."

The National Glider Association, organized to promote navigation of the air without engines, will do a great deal to build up flying by adding to the number of fliers.

MAN KIDNAPED THEN ROBBED

J. S. Smallwood, Barber, Victim of Auto Bandits.

J. S. Smallwood, colored barber, 617 Broadway, was kidnaped and robbed of about $100 worth of jewelry and $8 in money by two bandits on the Beaver-East Liverpool road while returning to his home in Oakland, Sunday night, he reported today. Smallwood furnished a description of a watch, chain and stickpin alleged to have been taken by the bandits to Midland police to whom the holdup was reported.

Smallwood, who had been visiting in Ohioville, was waiting for a westbound interurban car at the stop near where the Ohioville road intersects with the improved road from Midland at 9:30 o'clock Sunday night when two men, driving an automobile eastward stopped and inquired the distance to Beaver. They alighted from the car and also asked him for the time.

One of the pair then drew a gun from his pocket and ordered Smallwood into the back seat of the sedan. His confederate took the wheel of the machine while the other kept the gun pressed to Smallwood's side. "They needed to vanport, where Smallwood was ordered out of the car and relieved of his valuables."

A monument to commemorate the death of Bolivar, the national hero, is to be erected by the Venezuelan government on the battlefield at Carabobo.

Two Killed When Train Hits Truck

DELAWARE, O., Dec. 3.—(INS.)—A liquor-laden truck was struck by a Pennsylvania passenger express train at a crossing north of Westerville on the Three C highway late yesterday afternoon and two men are dead today.

Flaf R. Farhart, 50, and Effie Kourie, 36, were fatally injured. According to Delaware county officials, 50 one-gallon cans of liquor of undetermined quality and several cases of bonded whisky were found in the wreckage.

Farhart is survived by a wife and a son who live in Syria. Kourie, also a Syrian, is survived by his widow and two sons.

Break Window, Rob Jewelry Store.

COLUMBUS, O., Dec. 3.—(INS.)—Thieves hurled a brick through the window of a local jewelry firm and escaped with watches which were valued at $227, according to a police report today.

Thrilling Story of Romance of Modern Girl

What Has Gone Before.

Becoming cynical at her mother's wish to have her marry for wealth and social position, Nancy Hollenbeck, young and beautiful, accepts the ardent attentions of Jack Beamer, supposedly an Englishman of noble birth, who is married to a wealthy invalid. On a mountain trip, Nancy, after a passionate but brief courtship, makes a hasty marriage with a handsome ranger, Roger Decatur. Sickening of the loneliness, with Roger away, she returns home to resume her life, still keeping her marriage secret. When Roger, deeply in love with Nancy, comes to take her back, she tells him unless he makes his home in the city she will divorce him, although she realizes her own love for him. After Roger leaves, Nancy continues her clandestine affair with Beamer, whose wife, aware of his philandering, refuses to free him. Louise, Nancy's sister, always second with men, now has a rich, though elderly, suitor. Beamer takes Nancy out to his farm on a jaunt. Mrs. Beamer unexpectedly arrives and Nancy is bundled into the kitchen. Beamer decides to placate his wife to protect his own financial welfare. Nancy, though humiliated, forgives all when he phones. At home Nancy assails her mother for catering to Mr. Lachman, Louise's rich admirer.

Now Go on With the Story.

There was some reason why she ought to be home tonight, but Louise couldn't remember just what it was. She ought to telephone and tell mama she wasn't coming. But by the time you've found a telephone booth and got a connection, and been scolded from the other end of the wire half the night is gone, and Louise wanted it all tonight. Every bit of it. "I'd love to come," she said, and laughed into his dark, smiling eyes. She felt reckless and young and gay. Not part of the family at all. Mat grinned back: her and stepped on the starter. Nothing happened. He stepped again. Still no action. They looked at each other and broke into crazy hilarious laughter. After he had cranked it and the old car shuddered and jerked and started at last. Mat remembered there wasn't much gas. He scratched his head. "I'm darned if I see how we're going to buy gas and two dinners on $1.85!" Louise turned out her purse. A powder puff, lipstick, keys and three quarters. "Great, we're rich!" And so the adventure began. A decrepit car, a shabby knight, a truant girl. They drove into the hills back of the university. A roundabout way to a dago dinner.

The night was quiet and dark. A cool little wind touched them gently, caressingly. The scent of the spring, the warm, rich smell of growing things rose intoxicatingly from the earth.

They drove—but what does it matter where they drove? Neither Louise nor Mat knew nor cared. They were off the highway, bumping along some rural road. With the facility of long practice Mat drove with one hand. And, without any practice at all, Lou's head came to rest on his shoulder.

Eucalyptus, pungent and graceful, shut out all view of the city. Somewhere below the road a creek tinkled over stones. In the thicket of willow bordering the stream night birds chattered.

"Mat, isn't it—just heaven?" "Oh, Lou, you're lovely—lovely!" He bent to kiss her; habit again. He lifted her head to meet his kiss. Her arms went out to him, sweetly, generously. "Mat . . . my very dear . . ." And in that moment, with the small night wind blowing his hair and his cheek against hers, Mat Tully knew that the thing he had speculated about, and scoffed at, and never really believed in, had happened to him. He had fallen in love.

"We won't wait any longer," mama said brightly, tremulously. "Something must have delayed Louise. We'll just go ahead."

"An accident?" Mr. Lachman began hopefully. Not that he wanted Louise injured, of course. But a traffic jam . . . he could drive down and get her. He half rose from his chair.

"Oh, no; I'm sure that any moment—"

And Papa said, "Now don't worry, Oliver; she's probably just forgotten that you were coming. These rattle-brained girls!"

"Forgotten?" . . . forgotten him? Mr. Lachman's dinner was savored in his mouth. Forgotten him, had she? After all he'd spent already!

"I'm afraid the chicken is just a little overdone. . . . Peter, give Mr. Lachman a little more of the breast." Mrs. Hollenbeck quavered, reminding him that he was eating.

He spread a large, mottled hand protectively over his plate. "No! No more for me, thank you. Very delicious!" It really was very good. He'd have liked the wishbone, still on the platter, and a bit of the crackly brown skin. Why didn't they cook it that way in restaurants? But he had resolved to snub his hostess. He wouldn't have any more.

He refused the cake, the coffee, papa's cigar.

"Louise ought to be here any moment now!" poor Peter Hollenbeck said again, anxious eyes on the clock.

"Hum," murmured Mr. Lachman, high forehead aglitter, long nose moist with emotion.

When mama couldn't stand it any longer she crept into the kitchen where Grandma Hollenbeck, scraping dishes, was salvaging chicken bones for the Whaley's cat.

"I hope you're satisfied," she sobbed. "Stirring up trouble between me and my girls. Oh, you needn't talk—I know—I know you put Nancy up to saying what she did about Mr. Lachman. Louise, too. . . . I suppose you know where she is!"

The old lady's eyes flashed. Her work-worn hand, red from the dish water, went stealing to her petticoat pocket . . . but the pocket was empty, of course. She had given away her independence, given it to Nancy.

"I'm getting sick of it!" he younger woman shrieked. "I'll have you know this is my house! I won't have any interference with my . . . my . . ."

Her voice trailed off. The front door. Louise! Louise had come in.

"Hello, everybody . . . oh, how do you do, Mr. Lachman? Mat and I went for a ride . . . papa, you remember Mat Tully? And, Mr. Lachman, you've met Mr. Tully, too, I think?"

Mr. Lachman extended a large, damp hand and sank back into his chair, exhausted.

Nancy, hearing the commotion, ran downstairs and resumed her seat at the piano. Papa attempted feeble pleasantries. Mama's nervous laughter punctuated her polite conversation. Even Mat was ill at ease. But Lou . . . Lou was sparkling, aflame with excitement, oblivious of the family, of Mr. Lachman, of everything but Mat.

"And we haven't had a bite to eat—we were going to dinner, and we got lost or something . . . is that chicken I smell? Come on, Mat; let's go out in the kitchen. Grandma is out there. Grandma is the darlingest one in the family. Mat—she'll feed us—"

Mama's hand went to her collar, but she seemed to have lost the power of speech. She couldn't talk.

Mr. Lachman rose. He was very pale, and little beads of perspiration glistened on his long upper lip. "Just a moment Miss—Miss Louise," he began, joyfully. "You are not going to desert us? After I came all the distance from San Francisco, leaving important business and social duties, to see you?"

"It was very rude of you, my dear," mama cut in nervously, conscious of the crisis in the air, and afraid, oh, terribly afraid, that Louise wouldn't rise to the occasion, wouldn't stop chattering to that silly boy and say something charming . . . and it would have to be very charming . . . to bring Mr. Lachman back to good nature.

Lou hesitated. Glanced reluctantly kitchenward, and then back to mama and Mr. Lachman. "I'm sorry—if I'd known you were coming I'd have been here, of course."

Mr. Lachman breathed again. He stuck both hands in his pockets and teetered back and forth on his heels. "Oh, so they forgot to tell you?" His cold, fishy gaze rested triumphantly upon papa. Aha! Just as I thought! More of your inefficiency! he seemed to say.

Then Lou, conscious-stricken, "Oh, this is Thursday. I'd forgotten. Please forgive me, Mr. Lachman!"

He'd never forget, but he might forgive her. After all, she was very young, and very lovely. While he was groping for just the right words to say, smiling down at her fatuously, she began to laugh, joyously, blithely, the way Nancy used to laugh a year ago.

Between gasps of bubbling, choking laughter she managed to say, "Wasn't it funny? I didn't just forget Mr. Lachman and the family dinner party . . . I forgot to have dinner at all! And oh, Mat, I'm so hungry now. . . . Weren't we the idiots? Come on out in the kitchen!"

The door banged behind them. In the sudden strained silence Nancy's voice rose shrilly: "Isn't love grand?"

METHODIST REVIVAL ENDS

Evangelist Howard Goes to Pennsylvania City.

NEWELL, W. Va., Dec. 3.—Evangelist Field T. Howard, of Erlanger, Ky., left here today for Strongsburg, Pa., where, on Wednesday, he will open another campaign, following the closing last night of a series of revival services in the First Methodist Episcopal church.

Twelve conversions were reported during the Newell campaign. Plans for a Christmas entertainment were outlined at a meeting of the Sunday school board prior to the revival services last night.

With the pastor, the Rev. T. H. Mahon, in charge, prayer services will be held in the church at 7:30 o'clock tomorrow night.

COTTAGE PRAYER SERVICE TONIGHT

Cottage prayer services will be held in the home of Mrs. C. A. Daugherty, Grant street, at 7:30 o'clock tonight by members of the First Nazarene church. Missionary society will have charge of the mid-week services tomorrow night at 7:30 o'clock. Mrs. Roy Thompson will be the leader.

Pupils Save $52.24 in November.

Pupils' Savings in the Fourth street school for November totaled $52.24, a decrease of $22.46, compared with the October report. It was announced today by school authorities.

Rehearse School Playlet.

Rehearsal for the playlet, "After the Game," to be presented by the faculty of the Fourth street school in the W. E. Wells high school, Friday night, for the benefit of the playground fund, was held last night under the direction of Mrs. V. E. McDowd.

Detective Kills Man in His Home

HAMILTON, O., Dec. 3.—(INS)—A technical charge of manslaughter, which was placed against V. G. Cook, a railroad detective, who shot and killed Dan Sweeney, 44, of Cincinnati, when he allegedly found Sweeney in his home, will be dismissed, according to reports here today.

The shooting occurred Saturday night. Sweeney died yesterday. Cook said he shot the man as the two were grappling for the possession of a revolver.

Sweeney, according to police, is also known by the name of Edward Bassinger.

62 HIGH CAGERS AT FIRST PRACTICE

Only Two Veterans Are Back

Chetwin and McConville Nucleus of New Squad.

WITH only two regulars from the last year's varsity reporting back for duty in the 1929-30 campaign, Coach Earl Zook last night began the difficult job of whipping a squad into shape for East Liverpool high's first court engagement of the season in which Bethany high school will appear on the local floor.

Joe Chetwin, center, and Harry McConville, a guard, are the only holdovers from the last season's team, although it appears that the Blue and White mentor will have a lot of likely looking material from which to cull talent to plug up the three other vacancies on the squad.

From the Reserves of last season come Reese, Lane, Dalrymple, McCoy, Burbick, Bowen and a number of others.

While Zook has had little opportunity to delve deeply into the possibilities of the squad which reported to him last night on the high school court, he believes that a fine-comb raking of the list of candidates will bring out some good looking prospects.

Total of 62 cage candidates took part in last night's workout and there will be probably half a dozen more appearing during the week.

Once things get going right, Zook will probably carry a varsity squad of 15 and a Reserve crew of 10 during the season.

Development of a high school inter-class league as well as basketball in the grade schools as a means of building for the future are plans now being considered by the local coach.

Instead of an inter-class tournament at the end of the year, Zook favors a schedule throughout the season.

The squad last night got a workout in fundamentals, with especial stress on the pivot and pass, two of the most important angles in the sport outside of the actual scoring of points.

The squad, Zook points out, is in need of a thorough brushing up in the ground work plays of the game and, as a result, attention to these essentials will occupy most of the time between now and the opening game of the season.

There will not be much scrimmage until prior to the appearance of the Brooke contains here.

All in all, prospects appear brighter than they did at the beginning of the football season, although the Blue and White is facing a long, hard grind down the coming cage campaign.

Twenty-one games have been scheduled to date, with the possibility of another being added to the bill. And 21 or 22 games during the year make a pretty tough assignment, especially with most of the leading quints in eastern Ohio appearing on the list.

TORONTO BOY LEADS SCORERS

Clark Hinkle, Toronto, a brother of Tackle Hinkle of the East Liverpool Pros, finished the season as fullback for Bucknell in a blaze of glory, capturing eastern scoring honors in the collegiate world.

Hinkle rolled up 50 points in Bucknell's last game against Dickinson for a total of 128.

He passed Al Marsters, Dartmouth star, who, despite an injured back which kept him out of the Big Green's last three games, amassed a total of 108 points.

Hinkle, playing in 10 games, made 21 touchdowns and two points after touchdowns.

Mazatlan, Mexico, is to have an athletic tournament next summer, and baseball, basketball, volleyball, boxing, tennis and other sports will be featured.

Scene lovers of England are protesting against the establishment of a china clay works on the River Dart, "the English Rhine."

WILLIE HOPPE HERE TOMORROW

Willie Hoppe, shown in action in the above photograph, world's champion 18.1 ballline billiard player and for 16 years holder of the 18.1 title, will play exhibition games Wednesday afternoon and night, Dec. 4, at the National Billiard Parlors. He will appear at 4 and 8:30 p. m.

Hoppe began playing billiards when only six years old, using a box or bench to stand on in order to make his shots. In 1906 when only 18, Hoppe went to France and played in the Grand hotel in Paris on Jan. 15 of the same year year against Maurice Vigneaux, the "Old Lion," and champion of the world at 18.1 and 18.2 ballline billiards.

The match was for the 18.1 championship, and Hoppe won 500 to 323.

Recently at Philadelphia, Hoppe defeated Otto Reisel, one of the leading three-cushion players, 200 to 152 in 155 innings, and at New York City the veteran star easily won from Kinrey Matsuyama, the sensational Japanese player, 3,523 to 2,122 at 18.1 ballline. In this match Hoppe established a new world's record high run of 296 unfinished at 18.1.

The games here will be at both ballline and three-cushion billiards, after which Hoppe will give an exhibition of fancy and trick shots.

Barbers book Hubbard's five.

Manager Ormes of the Ormes Barbers basketball team today announced negotiations had been virtually completed for the appearance here of De Hart Hubbard's quint on Jan. 13. The former world's champion broad jumper will stop here enroute to New York City, according to Manager Ormes.

The Barbers are improving right along and expect to be at their peak when the Hubbard outfit reaches the city. With a strong array of court talent lined up, the locals are confident they will hold their own with the best ones in and around this vicinity.

The Barbers have been working out for the last three weeks and will open their regular schedule in the best of form.

They will tackle the Rochester quint at Rochester Dec. 18.

A meeting of the team will be held at the Ormes Barbers shop Wednesday night at 7 p. m.

Golds defeat Whites at "Y"

Keeping out in front all the way, the Golds took over the Whites, 43 to 26, in a "Y" league tilt last night.

The Golds had a slight edge during most of the game with Jester, Smith and Bettbridge leading the scorers. Staley, Burbick and Mautz were the principal point producers for the Whites.

The London education committee reports that there are 48,943 fewer children of elementary school age in London than two years ago.

Spain is preparing to take a national census next spring.

Draw up 1930 Grid Cards; Ashland in Conference.

BY JACK VINCENT
COLUMBUS, O., Dec. 3.—Ohio Conference football took its 1930 lease on life here late yesterday afternoon when coaches and members of the Ohio Conference Managers' association met in annual convention at a local hotel.

Besides the drawing up of schedules, which yearly features the conclave, lively discussions of eligibility rules and methods of scheduling games occurred.

Representatives of 18 teams elected officers and stipulated that the annual track meet will be held at Wooster May 20 and 31.

C. W. Savage, of Oberlin, was elected president to succeed R. E. Martin, of Otterbein. L. C. Boles, coach at Wooster college, was chosen vice president and C. L. Eddy, of Case, was elected secretary and treasurer.

A secret session was held, or rather, a closed session. It did not remain much of a secret after it had been adjourned. For years there have been rumors that the conference would split up because of its unwieldy and bulky size.

There were grounds for those rumors at yesterday's meeting as far as could be learned.

There seemed to be no discussion among the group, according to the man-to-man discussions which took place in the halls after the secret session. However, a mite of dissatisfaction was expressed over the policies in the conference.

It was declared unfair to the smaller schools for larger colleges to draw up their schedules in advance of the meeting; plans were formulated for the control of athletics by the officials who enforce the rules rather than by faculty committees which make them; and the eligibility rules were freely discussed.

Ashland, which was a probationary member of the conference in 1929, was welcomed into the fold and it scheduled Ohio Northern, Kenyon, Wooster and Otterbein for the next gridiron season.

Jim Oberlander, coach of the Ohio State University Reserves, made his appearance at the meeting and scheduled five Ohio Conference schools. That established a precedent. The Buckeye Reserves will meet Muskingum, Hiram, Heidelberg, Ashland and Ohio Northern, all on their opponents' home fields.

Baldwin Wallace, which completed a successful 1929 campaign despite its one defeat by Akron, took a step towards bigger and better games when its representatives scheduled Mt. Union and Wooster as well as Akron.

John Carroll's coach succeeded in placing Heidelberg and Wittenberg on the Cleveland gridiron's 1930 calendar, but failed in his effort to schedule its one-time rivals, the Dayton Flyers.

Equipment for Spring gridiron practice will not be issued, it was decided, but members agreed to allow summer workouts.

No More Piles

Pile sufferers can only get quick, safe and lasting relief by removing the cause—bad blood circulation in the lower bowel. Cutting and salves can't do this—an internal remedy must be used. Dr. Leonard's Hem-Roid, a harmless tablet, succeeds, because it relieves this blood congestion and strengthens the affected parts. Hem-Roid has a wonderful record for quick, safe and lasting relief to pile sufferers. It will do the same for you or money back. Mathews Original Cut Rate, and druggists anywhere sell Hem-Roid with this guarantee.—Adv.

Rumor Retired Champ May go so Far as to Speak to Lowly Reporters.

By Davis J. Walsh.

NEW YORK, Dec. 3.—Having at last forgiven boxing for everything it has done for him, the James J. Tunney, who spent the past year donating culture to European capitals, is coming home today. He has done all he can for Europe. From now on, it is strictly on his own and must work out its salvation strictly on its merits.

Tunney, it seems, has decided to devote himself to the needs of America, which will be quite a break for boxing hereabouts.

A lot of those low fellows of the newspaper business will be there when the boat docks but I understand Tunney is a changed man and nobody will be molested, provided he remembers his place.

There used to be an unfortunate difference of opinion about this, due to Tunney's mistaken impression that the place in question was with the scullery help. However, it seems that the inherent bigness of the man has asserted itself at last and that he now views reporters with a great and forgiving compassion.

At that, he may be interested to know that this demand for privacy seems to be on the verge of fulfillment. Tunney somehow has lost contact with the news pages during recent months and even the magnified importance of his approach has failed to stimulate more than a casual mention of the fact in the sport sections. He also may be interested in the rumor that he no longer is of the social register.

I mention this as a rumor because I know nothing of the organ in question, being a person whose simple needs are answered by the telephone dictionary.

Anyway, Tunney will find many changes have been achieved since last he was with us and that not all of them are for the better. Rickard is gone and the edifice that stands as his monument now promotes five dollar shows for a profit in haircut money. He will find that it no longer is necessary to accost John Dempsey with the immortal query, "will you fight?"

John, as everybody knows, will not fight for the best reason in the world. He can't.

Tunney will find all divisions stagnant, with only Sharkey and Schmeling having "big money" possibilities in the same ring and that the funny thing about this is that you can't even get them in the same country.

He will find things so negative, in fact, that they will ask him the question that everybody seems able to answer himself.

They will ask him whether he will fight again, being perfectly satisfied in their minds that he won't. As to that, I wouldn't care to say that they are wrong; merely that they are giving themselves too much chance to be wrong. You always do that when you attempt to guarantee human behavior.

ATWATER KENT SCREEN-GRID RADIO

The air is full of wonderful things you should not miss—an Atwater Kent radio doesn't miss anything.

It never fails you. If a station is on the air and your neighbor can get it, you can get it just a little bit better on an Atwater Kent Screen Grid. And you'll get stations your neighbor can't get and bring them in clearly with the beautiful natural tone characteristic of the Atwater Kent Electro-Dynamic Speaker. Until you've had the thrill of getting station after station, with slight turns of the dial—until you've had the pleasure of listening to a real musical instrument whose reproduction is as naturally perfect as science can make it—until you've had the excitement of far distant station announcements—you've missed something in radio. A demonstration will convince you that an Atwater Kent Screen Grid Set is the ultimate in Radio.

The adoption of Screen Grid by outstanding radio manufacturers establishes its superiority over old style tube sets. Manufacturer contemplating new models are coming to screen grid. It has revolutionized the industry. But—don't be fooled. A screen grid tube doesn't make a screen grid circuit—nor do several of them.

Varicose Veins

You'll have to admit that even though you might have the most shapely legs in the world, one big thick vein can ruin their entire beauty and attractiveness. You didn't know it was possible to get rid of those swollen veins and bunces? Indeed it is—all you do is get a bottle of Moore's Emerald Oil at Carnahan Drug Co., or any drugstore. The great penetrating, soothing and antiseptic power almost immediately stops any pain or soreness. In swift time it reduces the most dilated veins back to normal size. Be able to wear the sheerest hose, have people compliment you on your lovely legs, be free from the horrible embarrassment of people criticizing your unsightly swollen veins, enjoy blessed relief from sore, tender aching feet—Moore's Emerald Oil shows you the simplest most economical yet the quickest and most efficient way.—Adv.
